2nd WAPO article ran - (b) (5) Full text below.
For brevity's sake - here's the paragraph mentioning us:

"The Trump Organization also said it had paid the roughly $250,000 monthly rent it owes to the federal government for use of the Old Post Office Pavilion, the federally owned building that houses the Trump International Hotel in downtown Washington. Spokespersons for the General Services Administration, which manages the lease, did not reply to multiple requests for comment."

ARTICLE FULL TEXT:

Trump's company, suffering from virus-related closures, makes rent payment on Florida golf club

The Trump Organization has paid the full April rent to Palm Beach County for one of its Florida golf clubs, according to documents released by the county on Wednesday.

After inquiring about possible rent relief because of the novel coronavirus outbreak and statewide business closures, the Trump Organization wired Palm Beach County $88,339.12 on Tuesday, satisfying its April obligations, according to emails between the county and a Trump Organization official.

The rent had been due April 1 for land used by the Trump International Golf Club West Palm Beach, but a Trump Organization executive said earlier this week it could be paid until April 10 without penalty.

The discussions between the Trump Organization and the county prompted questions about whether the president's private business would miss payments or request government help as a result of the outbreak. So far, the company has closed 18 of its hotels and golf clubs - including the West Palm Beach club - and laid off or furloughed more than 1,600, according to local filings and union officials.

President Trump still owns his company but it is being run by his two adult sons, Eric Trump and Donald Trump Jr., while he is in office. The $2 trillion stimulus package enacted last month blocked entities owned by the president or vice president from receiving a portion of the federal bailout funds.

"While some of our properties may be closed during this pandemic, the Trump Organization, and all that we stand for, remains very much open!" Eric Trump tweeted on March 31. "We cannot wait to welcome you back home!"

[\[Sign up for our Coronavirus Updates newsletter to track the outbreak. All stories linked in the newsletter are free to access.\]](#)

The Trump Organization did not respond to requests for comment on Wednesday about the rent payment or whether it planned to seek any relief from its financial obligations.

A Palm Beach county official involved in administering the Trump Organization leases, Ray Walter, wrote on April 3 that Ed Raymundo, director of finance for the Trump Organization's Florida properties, had called to ask for wire transfer instructions.

"I think they just wish to put this behind them," Walter wrote to other county officials, according to a copy of emails obtained through a public records request.

The Trump Organization also said it had paid the roughly $250,000 monthly rent it owes to the federal government for use of the Old Post Office Pavilion, the federally owned building that houses the Trump International Hotel in downtown Washington. Spokespersons for the General Services Administration, which manages the lease, did not reply to multiple requests for comment.

Tim,

I am not in receipt of any written request from the Trump Organization seeking "rent deferrals, rent abatement, and any other temporary or permanent changes to the lease rent relief" under the Old Post Office ground lease. Also, the Trump Organization has not presented documentation to GSA claiming financial hardship.

No mention of us or the Old Post Office building - just a reference at bottom of article to the D.C. hotel and link to story about the tenant's trying to sell the lease.

Here's text of story:

Trump Organization has laid off about 1,500 employees as pandemic hits business

The Trump Organization has laid off or furloughed about 1,500 employees at hotels in the United States and Canada as the coronavirus pandemic inflicts further pain on the president's private business.

With most of President Trump's hotels and clubs closed amid stay-at-home orders around the world, the Trump Organization has responded by slashing costs, much like other companies in the hospitality and tourism industries.

The Trump Organization has laid off or furloughed employees at hotels in New York, the District of Columbia, Miami, Chicago, Las Vegas, Vancouver and Honolulu, according to public filings and people familiar with the properties, including union officials.

Seventeen of Trump's clubs and hotels have closed. The remainder of Trump properties are operating at a fraction of their normal capacity: hotels running with restaurants closed, golf clubs operating with clubhouses shut down, and golfers warned not to share carts or touch the flagsticks.

All told, the closed properties generated an average of $650,000 in revenue for Trump per day, according to Trump's past financial disclosures.

That economic strain has pushed Trump Organization officials to inquire about possible relief, at least temporarily,

In Palm Beach County, Fla., the Trump Organization has not paid rent of $54,534.25 that was due April 1 on land it leases from the county government for the Trump International Golf Club West Palm Beach, a county representative said Friday.

The Trump Organization said it has until April 10 to make the monthly payment without penalty.

“Because payment has not become due, and in light of Governor’s DeSantis’ executive order shutting down businesses throughout the State of Florida as a result of the COVID 19 pandemic, the County advised us to refrain from making payment until they have finalized their policy for the handling of their numerous leases,” Alan Garten, a Trump Organization executive, said in a statement. “As soon as the County finalizes its guidance, we will, of course, fully and timely comply with its directives as well as continue to comply with the requirements of the lease.”

Palm Beach County officials did not respond to a question about Garten’s comment that the company was advised not to make the payment.

The West Palm Beach golf club sits on county land, and the Trump Organization pays $995,000 per year for two leases that pertain to one 18-hole and one nine-hole course, according to county officials. No monthly payment had been received on the 18-hole lease, which is administered by the county airports department, said Nicole Ferris, a county spokeswoman. She did not respond to questions about the second rent payment, of $33,804.88, that also was due April 1.

On March 25 - the same day that Trump's Palm Beach golf club closed - Ed Raymundo, director of finance for the Trump Organization's Florida properties, wrote an email to a Palm Beach County government official asking how the county intended to handle "the required rent installment" and suggested times were difficult for the club, according to a copy of emails obtained as part of a public-records request.

Raymundo wrote that DeSantis's executive order closing nonessential bars and restaurants had "resulted in the cancellation of events and forced the Club to close many of it's amenities leaving limited services available to our members."

"In addition, with many New York-based members, the Governor's most recent order requiring individuals traveling from the tri-state area to self-quarantine further hampers our operation," Raymundo wrote. "Your direction in this is greatly appreciated."

On March 31, Ray Walter, deputy director for real estate and concessions with the Palm Beach County airports department, wrote to Raymundo saying that "we are unable to forgive rental" but that a deferment may be possible

“on a short-term basis in the midst of the current state of closure” and that “it is critical for us to keep the dialogue open.”

“I anticipate we will have more direction in the coming days or weeks,” Walter wrote to Raymundo.

He added that his department “does not have delegated authority to waive conditions, therefore resolution would need to be approved by the Board of County Commissioners, and resolution such as a short-term deferment would need to be consistent with all similarly-situated tenants.”

One county commissioner, Hal Valeche, wrote in an email that “the Commission has not discussed this or, to my knowledge, been apprised of it, so no decisions have been made.”

The next board meeting is scheduled for Tuesday.

As of Friday, 17 of Trump’s 24 clubs and hotels around the world were closed. The latest to close was Trump’s hotel in Vancouver, Canada - which announced its closure Thursday.

Trump’s business partner in that hotel, Joo Kim Tiah, said in an email, “With what is happening in the world right now, no hotel company or hotel is immune or spared.”

Tiah said that 213 workers had been laid off and 18 kept on, with 11 of those working reduced hours.

In Chicago, the Trump hotel told investors on Friday that it had made the “heartbreaking decision to” lay off two-thirds of its staff, required the remaining staff to work on two to three days a week, and suspended 401(k) contributions for all. Even the lights had been turned down to save money. “In an effort to conserve energy, most common areas .□.□. are illuminated and heated at a minimum level,” the hotel told its investors in a letter obtained by The Washington Post.

With the properties closed, the company faces significant costs.

Over the next month, Trump properties will owe more than $1.8 million in property-tax bills from local jurisdictions, according to a Post analysis of tax records.

The company also has to pay an April bill to New York City, related to ice rinks, a carousel and a golf course that the company runs under city contracts. A representative of the city parks department said Friday that “they do not have a past due payment at this time” but declined to say more.

The company has been trying to sell its D.C. hotel lease since late last year, an effort that has been sidelined by the pandemic.

All -

FYI on below. (b) (5)

For reference - here's his WAPO article that ran last week. It was the second one on this topic, first story didn't mention us. Here's the relevant paragraph from the second article:

"The Trump Organization also said it had paid the roughly $250,000 monthly rent it owes to the federal government for use of the Old Post Office Pavilion, the federally owned building that houses the Trump International Hotel in downtown Washington. Spokespersons for the General Services Administration, which manages the lease, did not reply to multiple requests for comment."
